

Michael Condon

Director of Sales, Audit
Trullion
New York, New York

Michael Condon is an audit technology leader with more than 13 years of experience across public accounting, risk advisory, and accounting technology. He began his career as a practitioner, spending seven years in public accounting and risk advisory at Citrin Cooperman, where he worked closely with audit teams and clients across complex assurance and advisory engagements.

For the past six years, Michael has focused on helping accounting and audit professionals adopt technology to improve quality, efficiency, and consistency across their work. His experience gives him a practical perspective on where artificial intelligence can create real value in accounting, especially in areas like audit execution, documentation, data analysis, workpaper review, and employee benefit plan engagements.