

Sonia M. Axter

Managing Director, Head of Asset Management
Ullico Infrastructure Management Company, LLC
Chicago, Illinois

Sonia M. Axter is a managing director for Ullico Infrastructure Management Company and is the head of asset management. Axter has 27 years of experience in infrastructure development, principal ownership and project management. Prior to joining Ullico, Axter was formerly a senior member of Deutsche Bank's alternatives investment group and a senior member of Bechtel Enterprises, the infrastructure finance and development arm of Bechtel Group Inc. In her tenure at Bechtel, Axter led the redevelopment of one of the first public-private partnerships in the United States, the $150 million light rail and real estate Cascade Station development in Portland, Oregon. Prior to business school, Axter spent seven years as a project manager and project engineer on a range of transport, utility and environmentally impacted civil construction projects for the Pacific Northwest division of Granite Construction Company. Axter is on several boards, including JFK New Terminal One, CenTrio (a U.S.-based district energy company), Hearthstone Utilities (a natural gas and water distribution company operating in eight states) and Student Transportation of America (the second-largest student busing company in North America). Axter holds an M.B.A. degree from Stanford Graduate School of Business and a B.S. degree in civil engineering from the University of Washington.