Managing Partner
Veripath Farmland Funds
Calgary, Alberta

---

Carmon Blacklock is the Managing Partner of Veripath Farmland Funds and brings more than 30 years of experience in agriculture and agricultural investing. A sixth-generation Canadian farmer, he combines deep operational knowledge of agriculture with extensive experience in global agribusiness and capital markets. Prior to Veripath, Carmon worked with some of the world's largest international agricultural companies, where he managed crop protection initiatives across major agricultural markets. His career has provided him with a unique perspective on both the historical transformations of agriculture and the technological innovations—particularly artificial intelligence and precision agriculture—currently reshaping the industry.

Carmon holds a master's degree in quantitative finance and a bachelor's degree in international economics and has spent many years in both the private and public investment sectors. This combination of agricultural expertise and financial knowledge has enabled him to bridge institutional capital and the agricultural sector. Through Veripath Farmland Funds, Carmon delivers institutional-quality farmland investments while providing the agricultural industry with the patient capital it requires to thrive.
