

Andrea Bactor

Partner

Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP
Toronto, Ontario

Andrea Bactor is a partner in Osler's Pensions and Benefits Group. Her practice specializes in all areas of pensions and benefits, with a focus on pension administration, fiduciary duty and governance, and issues arising in the context of bankruptcy and insolvency. Bactor also advises clients on a full range of pension investment issues from both a pension fund and manager perspective, as well as on executive compensation matters and pension issues that arise in the context of mergers and acquisitions and lending arrangements. She is often sought out by government agencies for her expertise in litigation matters and on second opinions. Bactor speaks and writes extensively on pension-related issues. She is co-editor of Pension Benefits Law in Ontario and the editor of Canadian Cases on Pensions and Benefits. Bactor is also an adjunct professor at Queen's University Law School and a frequent guest lecturer at the University of Toronto and Osgoode Professional Development.
