Daneen Boyce, GBA

Benefits Analyst
United Food and Commercial Workers (UFCW)
Local 1776 Keystone State

Daneen Boyce, GBA is a labor relations professional and Benefits Analyst with UFCW Local 1776KS, a union representing workers throughout Pennsylvania. In her dual role, she advocates for members at the bargaining table while overseeing and supporting employee benefit programs, including health, welfare, pension, and retirement benefits.

Daneen holds a Bachelor's Degree in Human Resources from Temple University and has earned the Group Benefits Associate (GBA) designation. She is currently pursuing her Certified Employee Benefit Specialist (CEBS) certification, further strengthening her expertise in employee benefits and benefit fund administration.

With extensive experience in collective bargaining, contract administration, benefits, and member advocacy, Daneen works closely with union members, employers, and bargaining committees to negotiate contracts and develop practical solutions to workplace challenges. In addition to her responsibilities with UFCW Local 1776KS, she serves as a Trustee on multiple Taft-Hartley benefit funds, providing fiduciary oversight and governance for jointly administered health & welfare, pension, and other employee benefit plans.

Daneen is equally comfortable discussing collective bargaining strategy and all things benefits. As a Benefits Analyst, labor negotiator, and Trustee on multiple Taft-Hartley funds, she combines technical expertise with a practical, member-focused approach. She is passionate about helping workers understand their benefits and ensuring those benefits remain strong for generations to come.
