

Alex Brown

Research Manager
National Association of State Retirement Administrators
Washington, DC

Alex Brown is the research manager with the National Association of State Retirement Administrators. In this role, he collects and distributes data and information covering a wide range of topics pertinent to public retirement system administration and policy. He has co-authored briefs and papers on topics such as employer and employee pension contributions, hybrid retirement plans and pension reform. He also frequently discusses pension issues in front of state legislatures, public pension boards of trustees, professional associations and other stakeholders.