

Christopher D. Carroll, M.Sc.

Director of Health Care Finance and Systems Integration
Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration
(SAMHSA)
Washington, D.C.

Christopher D. Carroll, M.Sc., is the director of health care finance and systems integration at the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). He has an extensive background in health economics, behavioral health administration and financing, public health program implementation, organizational management and behavioral health systems operations. While at SAMHSA, Carroll has served as the director of the division of policy innovation and as the chief of the National Policy Liaison branch within the Office of Policy, Planning, and Innovation. He undertakes high-priority assignments for SAMHSA and serves as the primary contact on initiatives relevant to its mission and vision, including health reform policy and program development, strategic planning, organizational alignment, legislative issues, and maintaining valued public and private sector relationships. Carroll has 30 years of public and private sector behavioral health experience. Prior to his work at SAMHSA, he served as director of behavioral health operations for the sisters of Mercy Healthcare Network. He received his B.Sc. degree in organizational management from John Brown University in Siloam Springs, Arkansas, and his M.Sc. degree in international health economics and policy from SDA Bocconi School of Management in Milan, Italy.