

Roberta K. Chevlowe, Esq.
Senior Council
Proskauer
New York, New York

Roberta K. Chevlowe provides advice to employers and boards of trustees of multiemployer benefit plans on a broad range of issues relating to their retirement, health and other employee benefit plans. With three decades of experience practicing in this area, Chevlowe employs a practical, business-minded approach to helping her clients comply with the various requirements imposed by ERISA, the Internal Revenue Code, COBRA, the Affordable Care Act, and other federal and state laws affecting employee benefit programs. Chevlowe's practice also includes advising clients in connection with benefit claim appeals, lawsuits and government audits; drafting plan documents, policies and employee communications materials; and negotiating with plan service providers. Chevlowe is best known for her work in the area of COBRA compliance and for advising employers in connection with the benefits they provide to employees' domestic partners and same-sex spouses. She is a co-author of The COBRA Handbook, and she lectures and publishes articles on a variety of employee benefits topics. In addition, Chevlowe is a leader of Proskauer's Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Benefits.
