Manager, Strategic Partnership
Cardinal Health
Dublin, Ohio

Christopher Coulter is a manager of strategic partnership for Cardinal Health's medical supply business. As a member of the Performance Plus™ team, Coulter manages supplier relationships with preferred partners and is responsible for sales enablement activities across both the medical acute and nonacute businesses. Coulter is a co-founder of New Perspectives, a DE&I discussion series, and has a passion for expanding diversity, equity and inclusion opportunities for his peers. A graduate from The Ohio State University, Coulter's background in sales, data analytics and commercial technology bring a unique combination of skills to his current role.
