Hartnett Reyes-Jones, LLC
Saint Louis, Missouri

Jim Faul is a partner at Hartnett Reyes-Jones. As a respected advisor in the labor community, he primarily represents unions and multiemployer fringe benefit funds along with their intermediate bodies in arbitration, recognition elections, picketing and strikes, and litigation before the National Labor Relations Board and courts throughout the country. His additional work includes successfully representing workers in workers' compensation cases as well as advising political candidates and political committees in campaign finance. A member of the AFL-CIO Lawyers Coordinating Committee, Jim is also a registered lobbyist in the state of Missouri and a former trustee for the St. Louis Metropolitan Sewer District—a role now filled by another of the firm's partners, Mike Evans.
