

Holly Greer

Manager, Global Benefits and Wellness
Hewlett Packard Enterprise
Fort Worth, Texas

Holly Greer serves as the global benefits and wellness manager at Hewlett Packard Enterprise, where she champions the idea that benefits and wellness solutions are not a one-size-fits-all strategy and should be tailored to individual needs. With more than ten years of experience, Holly is a strong advocate for inclusive wellness programs, believing they can foster a culture of well-being within organizations. In her current role, she designs and produces a comprehensive and award-winning global benefits and wellness program for tech leader Hewlett Packard Enterprise. Holly's work extends to the global employee population with a holistic approach to well-being. She also has previous experience beyond corporate strategy to include direct-to-consumer wellness products that emphasize value-based care.
