Rick Halm is a cybersecurity and privacy attorney who advises organizations on cyber incident response, regulatory investigations, data privacy and cybersecurity compliance, and emerging technology risks that impact employee benefit plans, healthcare operations, and sensitive workforce data. He leverages his unique, multi domain experiences in cyber insurance, healthcare, and private practice to navigate these challenges with his clients.

Using his U.S. Army experience, Rick brings a rocksteady, practical approach to incident response and regulatory investigations. Recent clients have included large health systems, employee benefit brokers and defense contractors. Recent successful regulatory defenses include HHS OCR and State Attorney General investigations. Rick also assists his clients in recovering fraudulently wired funds when applicable.
