

Wendy Herrmann, MA

Owner, Facilitator, Coach
Green Table Consulting & Coaching
Columbus, Wisconsin

Wendy Herrmann is a Certified Professional Coach, consultant, and educator with more than 20 years of experience designing engagement, training, and leadership development programs across higher education, non-profits, and government. As the owner of Green Table Consulting & Coaching, she partners with individuals and organizations to find the best way forward, embracing all that humans bring to the table.

Believing that Personal Growth IS Professional Development, Wendy's approach combines behavioral science, positive psychology, and deep expertise in instructional design with practical insights into how adults learn most effectively. Whether facilitating workshops or leadership retreats, guiding strategic planning sessions, or coaching emerging leaders one-on-one, she creates authentic, psychologically safe spaces where participants feel brave enough to uncover new insights together. Along with consulting, she continues to teach and facilitate experiential learning programs focused on workplace communication, self-awareness, and people management.

Wendy holds a Master of Arts in Counseling with an emphasis in higher education and adult learning, and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science, Communications, and English Literature.
