

Paul Lacombe, M.B.A., RPh

Clinical Strategy Director, Commercial Division
Express Scripts
Long Beach, California

Paul Lacombe has over 35 years of experience in the managed care pharmacy industry, has a deep passion for client and member advocacy, and works to provide clients with innovative cost-containment solutions. Paul's overall responsibility is to work within Express Scripts to deliver clinical solutions to meet our diverse client requirements. This includes collaborating with internal product owners within the organization as well as our PBM chief medical officer for both existing solution performance but also new innovations to meet emerging pharmacy trend management challenges. He interfaces directly with clients as well as account team members for direct feedback and works internally to drive product enhancements as well as provide direction in development of new solution offerings. He also serves as a representative to commercial division clients in our Value Assessment Committee in evaluating formulary product selection to drive to the lowest net cost on behalf of our clients for all Express Scripts standard formulary offerings. Paul routinely speaks to both internal and external committees and conference groups on the topics of drug pipeline and development, emerging pharmacy trends, utilization management, patient care, cost-containment strategies, and overall pharmacy landscape and legislative environment.
