

Sophie Leblanc, CFA

Chief Investment Officer and Treasurer
McGill University
Montréal, Québec

Sophie Leblanc is the chief investment officer and treasurer at McGill University. With over 25 years of experience in the investment and capital markets sectors, she oversees diversified asset portfolios for McGill's pension plans and the University's endowment fund. In her role, Sophie leads a team of investment experts and develops the investment strategy for the various funds, while integrating principles of sustainable and responsible management. Before joining McGill, she served as the director of investments for Bombardier's pension funds. Sophie holds the CFA designation, a master's degree in management sciences with a specialization in modeling and decision making from HEC Montréal, and a bachelor's degree in business administration with a finance option from Laval University. She is a member of the CFA Society Montréal and actively participates in several investment committees in both the public and private sectors. Additionally, for over ten years, Sophie has chaired a golf tournament benefiting Maison Marguerite.