

Allison A. Madan
Of Counsel
Slevin & Hart, P.C.
Washington, D.C.

Allison A. Madan is currently of counsel at Slevin & Hart, P.C., a 28-attorney law firm in Washington, D.C. specializing in employee benefits law and related litigation. Having practiced exclusively in the field of employee benefits law since 1990, her experience spans a broad range of issues arising under ERISA and related laws. Ms. Madan has significant experience in matters related to multiemployer pension, welfare and apprenticeship training plans as well as plans maintained by tax-exempt organizations. She has litigated cases in a number of federal courts throughout the United States involving a variety of employee benefit issues. Ms. Madan has counseled clients in the areas of fiduciary responsibility, prohibited transactions, benefit claims, vendor agreements, withdrawal liability, mergers, and pension plan insolvency and termination. She has presented programs through the D.C. Bar Association, the American Bar Association and the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans. She has served as a member of the Professionals Committee of the International Foundation and is currently an Advisory Director of the Foundation.