Hope Nawada

Senior Vice President & General Manager
Majesco
New York, New York

Hope Nawada is Senior Vice President & General Manager of the Retirement & Pension business at Majesco, where she leads business strategy, growth, product innovation, and customer outcomes for the company's retirement solutions. She brings more than 25 years of experience spanning technology, product development, solution delivery, business development, and client leadership.

Prior to Majesco, Hope held multiple executive and leadership roles at Vitech Systems Group, leading global teams and complex technology and business transformation initiatives. Her experience included partnering with retirement and pension organizations to modernize complex administration environments, navigate large-scale transformation, and improve operational and member experiences.

Today, Hope is focused on advancing the future of retirement administration and helping organizations respond to changing customer expectations, evolving technology, and new opportunities created by AI and intelligent automation. She is passionate about connecting technology innovation with practical business value to simplify complexity, modernize with confidence, and deliver better outcomes for organizations and their members.

Hope holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from Lehigh University.
