Owner
HR Insight Consulting
Denver, Colorado

Amy Pagett has over 12 years of experience as a human resources leader, with a demonstrated track record of providing creative, forward-thinking solutions in the areas of workforce planning, employer branding, culture cultivation, and employee engagement. In her positions as vice president of human resources at Laramar Group and HR director for LONG Building Technologies, Amy was a strategic business advisor to executive leadership, driving key organization goals and spearheading the company's people strategy. Throughout her career, she has overseen talent acquisition, benefits administration, employee relations, talent engagement, succession planning, talent development, acquisitions and outsourcing, and compliance. Amy enjoys mentoring human resources professionals and offering leaders alternative ways to think about issues and solve problems. She is passionate about effective communication; thoughtful people strategy; and creating dynamic, action-oriented company cultures based on trust, accountability, and empathy. Amy graduated with a B.S. degree in business administration, with a marketing emphasis, from the University of Northern Colorado and an M.B.A. degree, with an emphasis in B2B marketing, from the University of Colorado at Denver. She also holds an active Senior Professional in Human Resources (SPHR) certification.
