

Yaro Pan

Managing Director and Research Analyst
Wellington Management Company LLP
Boston, Massachusetts

Yaro Pan is a research analyst for Wellington Management on the global opportunities team, conducting fundamental analysis on global equity investments. He brings over 15 years of technology investing experience, leveraging his analysis to inform broader positioning across sectors. During his time researching transformative technology trends, he has developed subject matter expertise in digital assets as well as the impact crypto innovation can have on business models and the investment opportunity set. Prior to joining Wellington Management in 2005, he worked in Equity Research at America's Growth Capital from 2004 to 2005. Pan earned his B.A. degree in economics from Bowdoin College.