MIDIOR Consulting
Co-Founder and President
Modern Administration Systems
Cambridge, Massachusetts

Susan Loconto Penta is an engineer, entrepreneur, educator and consultant with a passion for products, technology and teams, which has underscored her 40-year career. Susan's current focus is on modernizing platforms, data and organizations in the financial services, union and benefit fund sectors through two firms she co-founded and currently leads: MIDIOR Consulting and Modern Administration Systems. Through Susan's 18-year tenure as an executive professor at Northeastern University's D'Amore-McKim School of Business, she shared her experience and approach to innovation and entrepreneurship, inspiring many to start and build their own ventures. As a frequent guest lecturer and public speaker on topics ranging from innovation and entrepreneurship to benefit fund organizations and operations, Susan hopes to expand mindsets and change how people think about delivering value. Susan also serves on the boards of numerous nonprofits, most often at the intersection of education, entrepreneurship and marginalized populations. Susan holds a bachelor of science in electrical engineering (BSEE) degree from Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) and a master in business administration (MBA) degree from Bayes Business School in London, England.
