

Stephen A. Pike, ICD.D

Partner
Gowling WLG
Toronto, Ontario

Stephen A. Pike is a Toronto-based partner at the Gowling WLG law firm and is co-leader of Gowling WLG's Canadian ESG Advisory Services practice. As a senior legal advisor to Canadian, American and global businesses, Pike regularly advises on corporate, governance, and ESG issues as well as transactional, operational and risk management issues, including advising businesses and investors on S-211 as well as how businesses can assess and address the risks of forced labour and child labour in their supply chains. Pike has been a partner at the firm since 1994 and served as the firm managing partner-external for a four-year period from 2010-2013. He is co-editor of ESG in the Boardroom: A Guidebook for Directors, which was published in 2022 by the American Bar Association. In 2019, he began writing a continuing series of insights for Canadian CEOs and directors on addressing forced labour and child labour in their businesses and supply chains (now 18 parts). Pike appeared as a witness before the Standing Senate Committee on Human Rights to give evidence regarding Bill S-211 Canada's Fighting Against Forced Labour and Child Labour in Supply Chains Act. He is a member of the 2021, 2022 and 2023 Program Faculty of the ESG, Climate Risk and the Law Professional Development Certificate Course at Osgoode Hall Law School, and he lectured on Business and Human Rights: Risks, Intersections and Impacts for ESG. Pike is co-chair of the ESG Subcommittee of the Corporate Governance Committee of the Business Law Section of the American Bar Association and a member of the board of directors of the International Commission of Jurists-Canada. He serves as a member on the Canadian Cancer Society's Finance, Audit and Risk Management Committee. Pike holds the ICD.D designation granted by the Institute of Corporate Directors.
