

Candace Quagliato

Lead Benefits Analyst, Health and Welfare,
Strategy and Planning
WestRock
Richmond, Virginia

Candace Quagliato has operated as the lead benefits analyst, health and welfare, strategy and planning at WestRock for the last six years. Quagliato is passionate about finding creative ways to drive team member engagement to support WestRock's benefit strategy and generate meaningful outcomes for team members. With over 15 years of professional benefits experience, Quagliato serves as the strategic benefit analyst and consultant on the total rewards team, focused on implementation and management of clinical solutions, well-being and plan design strategy, employee benefits communications and union negotiation support. She has a B.S. degree in business administration from the University of Mary Washington as well as her SPHR certification.