

Alice Jones Schenall, Dr.P.H., M.P.H.

Director, Cross-Sector Leadership and Facilitation
Association for State and Territorial Health Officials
Arlington, Virginia

Alice Jones Schenall, Dr.P.H., M.P.H., is the director of cross-sector leadership and facilitation at the Association for State and Territorial Health Officials (ASTHO). In this role, since 2021, Alice has provided leadership training, coaching, and collaboration for capacity building and technical assistance to executive leaders and programmatic teams in public health for state and territorial governmental public health agencies. Alice's background includes 25 years of public health practice in the health sector: hospitals, health departments, and clinics. She is committed to growing the next generation of public health practitioners while learning with and from them. She and her lifetime partner, Q, enjoy all things biblical and outside sports. Alice values every opportunity to support their sons as academic scholars, athletes, and artists.
