

James R. Solloway, CFA

Chief Market Strategist and Senior Portfolio Manager
Investment Management Unit, Portfolio Strategies Group
SEI Investments
Oaks, Pennsylvania

James R. Solloway serves as chief market strategist and senior portfolio manager of SEI Investments Portfolio Strategies Group for the Investment Management Unit where he is responsible for strategic and active asset allocation research. His team builds strategies for the portfolios used by SEI's institutional clients, which include multiemployer, governmental and single employer pension plans. Prior to joining SEI, Solloway was a senior portfolio manager at New York-based Morgan Stanley Investment Management. He also worked for Argus Research Group, a New York-based independent research provider, where he acted as market strategist, director of research and co-president of the research division. He is a CFA charterholder. Solloway earned his bachelor of arts degree in economics from Columbia University and his master of business administration degree from Stern School of Business at New York University.