

Jake Stevens, ASA, MAAA
Senior Vice President, Health Solutions
Aon
Dallas, Texas

Jake Stevens is an account executive and actuary with Aon's Health Solutions practice in Dallas, Texas. His responsibilities include leading overall account team delivery and shaping benefits strategy recommendations, working closely with team members and clients to understand all aspects of their plan offering, including guiding principles and goals in order to proactively advise clients where appropriate. Jake also serves as a connector into broader Aon Risk and Human Capital solutions and services for clients. Jake has extensive health and benefits expertise, knowledge of the vendor landscape, and diverse experience guiding benefits strategy across various employer segments and industries. During his time at Aon, he has supported strategic client decision-making and execution through partnership as an extension of employer benefits teams, thought leadership from a deep understanding of the health care landscape and innovative employer offerings, leveraging vendor relationships, and leading with data-driven insights. He specializes in the performance of various actuarial analyses and modeling techniques to evaluate client-specific data, leading to actionable strategies and tactics that can increase efficiency and create savings opportunities for employer-sponsored health and benefits programs. His experience also includes bargaining negotiations, leading discussions with senior and executive leadership teams within organizations, providing statements of actuarial opinion, health care data analytics, and other projects related to self-funded and fully insured plans.
