

Lindsay Wiens

Manager, People Operations Programs
Tenstorrent
Irvine, California

Lindsay Wiens is an HR and talent management professional with experience spanning talent development, people operations, and global HR program management. She began her career supporting talent initiatives at Amazon, where she partnered with leaders to drive hiring, development, and operational excellence across a high-growth business. Currently, Lindsay leads people programs at Tenstorrent, where she builds and manages global programs across onboarding, benefits and leave strategy, compliance, and international workforce expansion. Her expertise includes designing scalable people processes, strengthening leadership alignment, and improving the overall employee experience. Lindsay is passionate about creating people-first programs that support both organizational goals and employee well-being.