Mr. Hennink is an advanced care paramedic and a singer/songwriter by both passion and vocation, known for his inspirational music that gives hope to those who need it the most. He has served as an advanced care paramedic for over a decade. However, Mr. Hennink’s love of music began during his childhood, playing in bands and creating songs with his acoustic guitar in Cape Town, South Africa, where he was born and raised. During one of his darkest times, Mr. Hennink’s avid interests transformed into his calling. The light out of that dark place was emotionally charged hard rock. Slowly but surely, he started to heal, and his mission was born—to spread mental health awareness through the power of music. In order to make this dream a reality, Mr. Hennink joined forces with Jared Robinson, founder of Nebulus Entertainment. His debut singles, “Please Forgive Me,” “Home” and “Darkest Hour” are now available on iTunes, Amazon, Spotify and various other music platforms. In December 2018, “Warriors” music video and song was released and received over 350,000 views on Facebook. The U.S. Army performed “Warriors” in concert as a tribute to post-9/11 troops. Infinitely dedicated to giving back to his community, Mr. Hennink also contributes to foundations that advocate for first responders and their loved ones, including those that advocate for their emotional well-being.
