

Jill E. Mongelluzzo, GBA

Director, Benefits Strategy

National Grid

Brooklyn, New York

Ms. Mongelluzzo is director of benefits strategy for U.S.-based operations at National Grid, a global energy and utility company employing over 16,000 union and management employees. In her current role, she drives the strategic direction of the health and welfare benefits that address the needs of the company's diverse multigenerational workforce. Ms. Mongelluzzo directs the design, implementation and education of benefits plans and programs with a focus on improving employee engagement, outcomes and overall well-being. Prior to her role at National Grid, she was responsible for plan compliance and design as well as the acquisition and implementation of health and welfare benefits and wellness programming at the New York Public Library. During her tenure there, Ms. Mongelluzzo served as a trustee on the Taft-Hartley DC37/NYPL Health and Security Plan Trust. She is an active participant with the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans, serving since 2015 on the Corporate Board, currently as past chair, and serving as Corporate Board Liaison to the Health Care Management Committee. Ms. Mongelluzzo is also a member of the International Society of Certified Employee Benefit Specialists, holds the Group Benefits Associate (GBA) designation, and received her B.B.A. degree from Pace University, Lubin School of Business in New York City.
