

Marla Vaughan, MPH

Team Lead

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Atlanta, Georgia

Marla Vaughan, MPH, is a team lead in the Applied Research and Evaluation Branch, Division for Heart Disease and Stroke Prevention (DHDSPP), at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Since starting at CDC in 2002, she has overseen multiple evaluation efforts focused on expanding practice-based evidence; replicating effective interventions; evaluating CDC-funded programs; and building evaluation capacity at federal, state and local levels. Vaughan has been the team lead of the Evaluation and Program Effectiveness Team in DHDSPP since 2010 after working eight years, including three as a team lead, in the Division of HIV/AIDS Prevention. She is focused on ensuring use of evaluation findings and using evaluation and measurement methods to promote and increase health equity.